Did you know that EnviroKidz and Nature's Path donated over $40,000 to LCF last year alone? For the last several years we have worked together to provide conservation education programs in the USA and Madagascar. Thanks to EnviroKidz, the Ako Series: Madagascar Lemur Adventures is coming to classrooms in Florida, Tampo area children have a community center and art classes to help them learn about the magnificent forests (and lemurs!) near their home, and teachers are learning about field biology and lemur conservation.

EnviroKidz has raised over $1.6 million to help partnering organizations with their educational and protection efforts. Every time you buy one of Nature's Path's EnviroKidz products, 1% of the sales are donated to support endangered species, habitat conservation, and environmental education for kids worldwide. When you enjoy EnviroKidz Leapin' Lemurs cereals and crispy rice bars 1% of sales goes to support great programs like LCF's education efforts and lemur conservation. Hats off to EnviroKidz!

COME TO MADAGASCAR WITH US!

Travel through the fascinating island of Madagascar - one of the most unique, beautiful, and important biodiversity regions on earth! Lemur Conservation Foundation is delighted to invite you on a very special eight day trip around the island of Madagascar with Dr. Ian Tattersall and LCF's Executive Director and CEO, Lee Nesler.

Dr. Ian Tattersall, Curator Emeritus at the American Museum of Natural History, has been conducting field work in Madagascar since 1969. He is the well known author of the first two editions of Lemurs of Madagascar, and The Primates of Madagascar, the first authoritative review in English about lemurs.

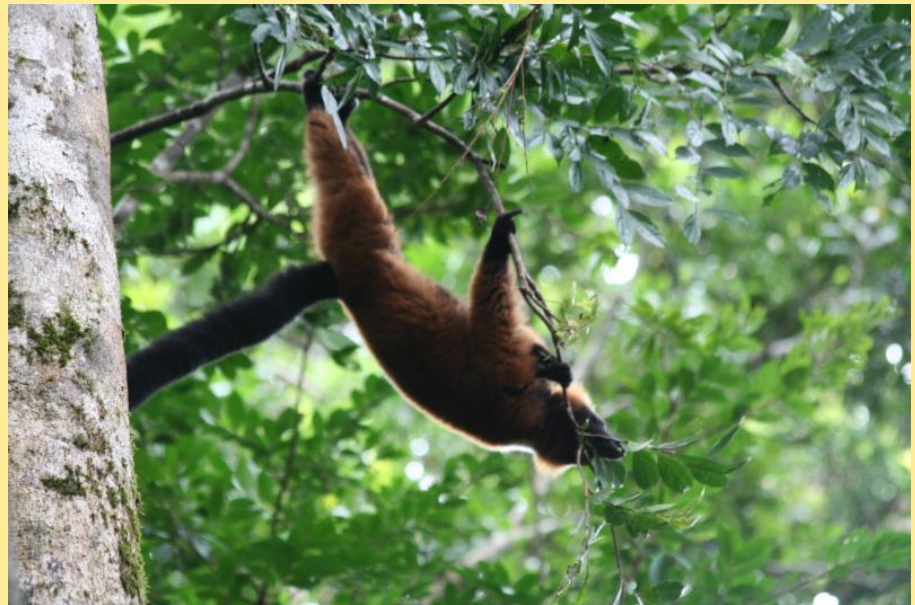

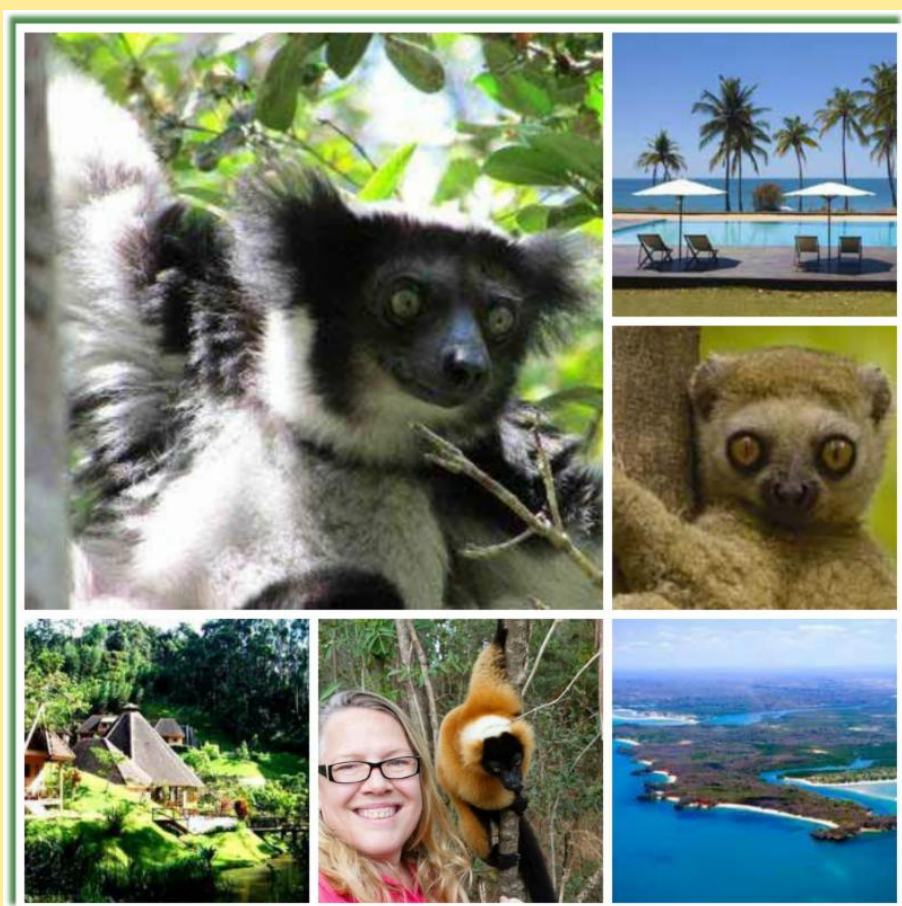

From 2 through 10 August our small group will travel to five Madagascar destinations, including the capital of Antananarivo, the Vakona Forest Lodge, and the stunning Morombe Bay. CLICK HERE to read the itinerary.

For more information about the trip please call Lee Nesler at 941-322-8494 or email at leenesler@lemurreserve.org

It's A Lemur Weekend In Ft. Lauderdale!

Here is some of the fun we'll be having at the Ft. Lauderdale Museum of Discovery & Science. Bring the whole family to meet our Executive Director & CEO, Lee Nesler.

Look for the new IMAX film 'Island of Lemurs: Madagascar' at a science center or theater near you! The film is narrated by Morgan Freeman and features the work of Dr. Patricia Wright, a leading lemur scientist who has dedicated her career to lemurs and their only endemic home, Madagascar.
