What lives in the Menabe forest?

Let’s all help save Madagascar’s beautiful forests

Tsididy bitika an'i Berthe
Madame Berthe’s Mouse Lemur
Microcebus berthae

Menabe has Primates, an animal’s order, many mammal species, and many bird species.

Berthe’s mouse lemur is the smallest primate in the world: it weighs only 30 grams.

Lemurs, monkeys, apes and people all belong to the Order Primates. There are about 80 different kinds of lemurs, and all of them live in Madagascar. Madame Berthe’s mouse lemur is the smallest primate in the world, it weighs only 30 grams.

A mouse lemur’s favorite food is sugar made by insects that look like flowers.

Owls are its most dangerous enemies!

Menabe Antimena

The Menabe Antimena was declared a protected area in 2006. It is a part of Madagascar’s western dry forest. It is famous for baobabs and many highly local species. Village communities actively monitor and protect its endangered biodiversity.

All living things in the forest are connected and depend upon one another

© Alison Jolly